

Gene and Ruth Miller Scholarship

My Nguyen

Biology, Sophomore

A few things about me:

I am majoring in Biology, but my ultimate goal is to attend medical school and earn my doctorate degree. I chose the biology major because I love learning about living organisms and how they interact with the environment. I volunteer in the USU research lab where I have started to learn how to culture cells. I am also volunteering at the Logan Regional Hospital in the operating room. I have gained experience working with patients; this has been a good opportunity for me to understand how the hospital works. One of the most memorable achievements I have received was competing in the HOSA medical competition with CPR and was sent to nationals to compete against other students. Receiving this scholarship will move me one step closer to my goal and advance my academic career. It will also provide me an important financial support that will allow me to obtain the additional education necessary.
