USU Brigham City Scholar Fosters Undergraduate Research on Regional Campus | Biology

Mary-Ann Muffoletto

02/21/2018

Mikayla Austin and Jessica Habashi

Brigham City undergraduate Mikayla Austin and her mentor Jessica Habashi help other undergraduate students get involved in scientific research by implementing a semester-long research projects in the classroom. Austin created a student survey to evaluate students' experiences, analyzed the collected data, and supervised the projects undergraduate volunteers. She will present her data at 2018 Undergraduate Research Day on Wednesday, 28 Feb. on Utah's Capitol Hill. Read about Austin Further in an article written by Mary-Ann Muffoletto in Utah State Today.