Makenna Johnson, MS student with Dr. Karen Kapheim, received a prestigious Graduate Research Fellowship from the National Science Foundation to study evolutionary biology beginning Fall 2018. Makenna will study the influence of maternal effects on offspring phenotypes in alfalfa leaf cutting bees (Megachile rotundata).