Samuel Rivera receives the USU Community-Engaged Alumnus Presidential Award

Samuel Rivera, Biology Department Advisor, receives the USU Community Engaged Alumnus Presidential Award for his extraordinary efforts to introduce local LatinX youth to STEM fields and raise scholarship funds for first generation students and DACA recipients.

The USU Presidential Awards for Community Engagement recognize the work of outstanding faculty, staff, students, and community partners that exemplifies collaboration between USU and the greater community for the mutually beneficial exchange of knowledge and resources in a context of partnership and reciprocity.
